In the video, which has been seen more than 2 million times, Kloss, a younger sister to Victoria's Secret Angel Candice Swanepoel, answers questions of fans. She explains her decision to become a mother-of-two, her bid to lose weight, and explains why she is selling her kidney. Dani Mathers, who is filmed with Kloss, says: "Because I'm really hungry. I don't mean to be rude to the girl, but I don't want to donate my kidney. I just really want to eat it." Kloss, who claims Mathers' comments were not a joke, explains: "If you're really hungry you can either eat it or you can sell it. And for me, being a woman, I would prefer to eat it." Mathers then says: "Are you serious? You can't sell it. You can donate it. You can give it away. But you can't sell it." published:17 Dec 2017 views:2922 Description: Ascension ?? is a fast-paced asymmetrical multiplayer game where both teams fight to reach the island and take the flag. ibot Game, I payed for it used, I'm broke now, and won't be getting more anytime soon. But I have a few copies left and they are actually in the game. All these years later, and I'm still looking for ppl on my dear ol' Linden! Excerpts from an old message I sent a long time ago, asking around about if I could find some dead or alive people: Friendly neighborhood type places = cafes, restaurants, corner stores Knowledgeable places = Libraries, public & university libraries, ask about the archivists and people in charge. Find someone willing to ask. This is a really good basic question to begin with! Museums = The best place to start. Find out what is in your city's museum. Do they have relevant exhibits? Find someone in charge to ask, or go on the dedication or tour. There also booths set up with connections to schools, libraries, museums and more. Knowledgeable people = Ask other people, you will get a better idea what is good. Go to public and university libraries and see what is current and what people are curating or your library has... Also try contacting someone in charge of curating artifacts, or someone who is really knowledgable about something you want to know about. And knowing that posters(printout of good things) are a good size/form factor and can be hung on walls but sometimes are hard to find...I've seen people cut cardboard tubes from signs, and re-wrap them with a paper tube, then paste notes all over the cut out holes. It was because this poster was not an official record, and maybe kind of in flux, that may have caused it's strange behavior. I have been thinking up questions to ask, based on the experience I've gained from over the years and from doing this Q&A for Grubworm. Late to the party here, but first time poster. I have been posting to Foglestorm and there hasn't been any takers? So I'm going here for now. Any ideas what I should ask them about?Would love someone's ideas. I am reaching out to the Office of International Programs here in Northwestern UND because I am an International Student here. They help students like me get assistance with visas, tickets, lodging, and internship. Any Idea of what I should ask them? Anything in particular, or anything

The long-neglected lands of Gissarfall are awakening! The forces of darkness are gathering, and they are headed for the capital city of Alvora. It is up to you, brave adventurer, to lead a small band of soldiers and mercenaries in the name of the liege and king, your rightful ruler. Your sworn duty is to protect the lands from the dominion of the dark forces, and that is what you must do! Play as 10 fascinating and diverse races, each with its own distinct strengths and weaknesses, all of whom need your help to repel this new threat from the east. Engage in tactical turn-based combat against a variety of dangerous foes in a variety of deadly encounters. Develop your army, hire units from your friends, and ally with notable houses for bonuses in the coming battles. Discover all the secrets of the mysterious lands of Gissarfall as you uncover the potential of the exotic items and special abilities of these lands, allowing you to customize your army and strategize your moves. Take control of a war party and lead your team to victory, or dispatch your enemies to the afterlife with a well-timed spell! Now that Drake has finally come to the attention of the Council, a far more intense and dangerous game is about to begin. The Svalblod-korst is a mystical realm where the fierce spirits of the underworld have taken control of the Skeleton Council to use as their pawns. It is up to you to complete the Svalblod-korst Ritual, gather the secret scrolls, and reverse the ritual. The first of your eight quests is to retrieve the blue sigil of the ancient order of the Order of the Fay of Fenstone. Use the glowing runes within the Sigil to activate the Heart of Matter, which will grant you control of the monster within the Crystal Labyrinth in the Hall of the Fay. You must escape with the Sigil and the other seven Secrets of the Svalblod-korst. The game features up to 8 player online cooperative multiplayer via PlayStation Network and up to 4 player local multiplayer via split screen. Network and local splitscreen support for up to 4 players. Also includes a single player mode that can be played offline on a single player console.
